MPR FEDERAL SERVICES WINS $12 MILLION USACE CONTRACT

Alexandria, Virginia (July 28, 2010) — MPR Associates has been awarded a $12 million dollar contract by the United States Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) to provide construction engineering services for various civil works, environmental, DOE and military projects assigned to the USACE.

MPR's team members on this contract include Black & Veatch, Ben C. Gerwick, Inc., and Environmental Dimensions, Inc. Founded in 1915, Black & Veatch is one of the largest, most experienced engineering and architectural firms in the United States. Ben C. Gerwick is an internationally known consulting engineering firm that specializes in marine structures. Environmental Dimensions specializes in services for environmental investigation and remediation of sites contaminated with radioactive, hazardous, and mixed-waste materials.
